Recruiting Statement

The Maryland women's tennis program has eight full scholarships. Coach Laitta recruits at the National Clay Courts (Memphis, Tenn.), Hard Court (San Jose, Calif.), the Intersectional Team Championships (San Rafael, Calif.) and Orange Bowl International Championships (Miami, Fla.). Generally, prospective players should be ranked in the top 10 of their sections and in the top 100 nationally.

"The type of student-athletes that we look for here are highly motivated individuals who want to excel both on the court and in the classroom. Our program is one of the more intense programs in the country. The players on the team each have the option of 1-2 individual workouts a week and then strength and conditioning three days a week. We prepare our players physically and mentally for their matches. We are starting to attract players here who have ambitions of playing on the pro tour. We try to accommodate all of the players' dreams and goals when they arrive here. When the players leave here upon graduating, they should all be able to say that they had the time of their lives at the University of Maryland."

–Jim Laitta

The men's team was awarded the President's Cup as the team with the highest cumulative GPA in for the fourth consecutive year in 2000.

Maryland's varsity complex consists of 14 lighted hard courts as well as an indoor tennis bubble which consists of three courts. The outdoor complex is located adjacent to Cole Field House and has an excellent view of the recently renovated Byrd Stadium.

During the summers, the outdoor complex has hosted such tournaments as the World International Junior Hardcourt Championships, the USTA Circuit of College Park, and numerous USTA Mid-Atlantic junior and adult events.

These tournaments bring top talent not only from the United States, but from all around the world.

The Terps also use the state-of-the-art weight-training facility and have a professional staff that monitors the in-season and out-of-season regiment.

Head Coach Jim Laitta

11th Season · Eastern Kentucky '88

Entering his 11th season, Jim Laitta has taken what began as an underfunded program onto the national scene. Arriving at Maryland in 1991, Laitta began his first season with a team that did not have any scholarship players. The 1998-99 season marked the first year that the program had eight scholarships. Prior to becoming a fully funded team, Laitta demonstrated his recruiting prowess and on-court coaching abilities by taking his partially-funded teams to the NCAA Tournament three times in four years.

In 1996, he led the Terps to the school's first-ever NCAA appearance, as well as a tie for fourth place in the grueling Atlantic Coast Conference. As a result, he was named both ACC and NCAA Region I coach of the year by his peers. The 1999 season saw the team achieve the "triple crown" at the NCAA Tournament by competing as a team and in singles and doubles; this was the first time in the team's history that this was accomplished. Laitta also coached two of his players through two other prestigious tournaments, the National Invitational Tournament and the National Clay Court Championships. Prior to coming to Maryland, Laitta was the head women's coach at Mississippi State University from 1989-1990. The program finished in the national Top 20 and captured an NCAA doubles championship. In addition to coaching several college All-Americans and junior national champions, he has coached professionals who have competed in major tournaments such as the U.S. Open and Wimbledon.

Laitta played collegiately at Eastern Kentucky University where he was team captain and played the No. 1 singles and doubles positions. Upon earning his degree in psychology in 1988, he competed on the satellite tour, but always knew that coaching would be in his future.

Assistant Coach Danny Cantwell

1st Season · Maryland '92

Danny Cantwell is in his first year as a full-time assistant for the tennis team. Cantwell, a Maryland alumnus, will be involved in all facets of the program.

Cantwell was a standout on the men's tennis team while at Maryland and graduated in 1992. He earned All-ACC honors at the Nos. 1 and 2 singles positions for two consecutive years and was a 1990 conference champion. Cantwell was also nominated as ACC Player of the Year in 1990. He and his doubles partner, men's tennis coach Jeremy Loomis, were ranked on the ATP Pro Tour.

Cantwell has been a self-employed teaching professional and coach since 1986. He is in his third year of law school at the University of Baltimore and will graduate in May.

2001 Women's Season Preview

The 2001 women's tennis team is looking to rebuild after recording an 8-11 record in 2000, with three freshmen and two transfer students. The Terps look to challenge for a spot in the top half of the ACC and to earn an NCAA berth for the fourth time in six years. Head coach Jim Laitta is excited about his young recruiting class and he believes this is oneof the strongest team he has coached during his tenure.

In addition to the newcomers, the Terps also return three of the top players from last year's squad. Sophomores Delila Causevic and Jessica Johnson both earned All-ACC honors as freshmen last year. Catherine Valantin is the only senior on the team and is expected to be a key player, especially in doubles. The team, although hampered by injuries, had a productive fall season and Laitta is hopeful about the upcoming spring campaign.

"I feel this year's lineup will be solid from top to bottom. We have more depth than we've had in a long time," said Laitta. "This is a very enthusiastic team and they are a lot of fun to work with."

Freshman Emily Marker is expected to make an immediate impact on the team. Marker comes from Ann Arbor, Mich., where she was considered one of the top players in the her region. She was also ranked in the top 50 in junior competition. Marker and Valantin advanced to the semifinals at the ITA Regional Championships this fall as a doubles pair. Laitta believes that the key to this year's team will be finding three cohesive doubles units and looks to Marker and Valantin to lead in that area.

Joining the team this year are two junior transfers from Southern Illinois, Pamela Floro and Monica Villarreal. Floro played the No. 1 singles position at Southern Illinois and Villarreal was at No. 6. Both players are expected to add depth to the roster. Another player expected to add depth is freshman Chloe Chavardes, who has extensive experience playing throughout Europe. According to Laitta, Chavardes is a solid all-court player and is very team oriented. Freshman Danielle Piacente walked on to the team and earned a spot on the roster. "She is a local player and is a hard worker," said Laitta. "Her positive attitude is contagious."

Laitta is enthusiastic about the upcoming season. "We are looking to qualify for the NCAA tournament and earn a top 25 national ranking," he said. "The team chemistry is outstanding and we are looking forward to a very successful year."

2000 Women's Season Review

The 2000 season marked the emergence of two strong ACC players. Freshmen Delila Causevic and Jessica Johnson dominated the top of the singles lineup and became a force as a doubles pair. Both earned all-conference honors in singles and proved competitive against nationally ranked opponents.

Johnson spent most of the season at the No. 2 singles position where she earned a 20-7 overall record (including fall competition). Johnson finished the spring tied for 101st in ITA rankings. With a 5-1 conference record, she won the No. 2 singles flight in the ACC.

Causevic joined the Terrapins in the spring and immediately garnered the No. 1 singles position. She finished the season with an 11-6 record, 3-3 in the ACC. The two freshmen competed as a doubles pair, earning four wins.

Maryland started the 2000 season with four home victories despite a lack of depth and only five healthy players on the roster. Forfeiting both the No. 6 singles and No. 3 doubles positions each match proved to be a tough obstacle for the Terps as they struggled on the road early in the season. Completing the roster were senior Stacy Walkowitz and juniors Chrissie Terrill and Catherine Valantin. Valantin, a transfer from Broward Community College in Florida, also had a standout inaugural season with the Terps, competing in both the Nos. 3 and 4 singles positions. She finished the season with a 9-6 record. Walkowitz notched 11 wins during her fall and spring campaigns. She and her doubles partner, Terrill, earned a team-high 12 wins overall. Terrill, who recorded 14 singles wins, also took home first place in the Flight B singles at the Maryland Invitational.

Coming late in the season were two hard-fought ACC victories. Both North Carolina and NC State dropped 5-4 matches to the Terps. The defeat of Carolina was the first ACC victory for Maryland and came down to the No. 2 doubles match. After a grueling five hours, the duo of Walkowitz and Terrill downed the Tar Heels 9-7.

The win against NC State marked the end of the regular season and a career-high 12 singles wins for Johnson. Causevic was a close second with 11 victories on the season. The Terps entered the conference championships as the No. 7 seed but fell to No. 2 Duke 5-0 in the quarterfinal round. Maryland finished the season with eight victories, and ranked seventh in the ACC.

2001 Men's Season Preview

The Terps head into the 2001 season with a good attitude towards the future. With a strong returning class, the team has high hopes for the 2001 campaign. This year's experienced team returns five starters from a year ago including three seniors. With the addition of two solid players on the roster, the Terps are looking to improve on last year's rebuilding year.

Coach Jeremy Loomis returns for his fifth season at the helm of the up and coming program. "This is my most experienced team, so they should know what to expect, I don't have to worry about them not being prepared." Loomis said.

Returning for his second season, sophomore Chris Chiu is looking to improve on his 5-9 record of a year ago. The sophomore began last season winning his first three matches, all against non-conference teams. He led the team with five non-conference victories last season.

"Chris has had a very good fall, he's raised his game up both physically and mentally. He is a focused player," Loomis said.

With the return of seniors Dan Kenshalo, Larry Chou and Luan Nguyen, the Terps will have solid leadership. Chou competed at the No. 1 position in 12 of 14 matches last season. Kenshalo tallied three wins against non-conference opponents last season. After competing in all eight ACC matches last season, including a victory against Virginia's Michael Duquette, Nguyen will again be in the rotation for this year.

The 2001 squad has added two talented athletes in transfers Jonathan Neeter and Greg Chambers. Neeter transferred this season from West Virginia. Chambers, a transfer from Towson, has already made his presence felt by placing 15th at the NC State Wolfpack Invitational this past fall. "Chambers is going to be a good asset to the team. He is a very hard worker and will be a key contributor in the spring," Loomis said.

The only junior on the team, Jonathan Murchison will look to make an impact after recovering from a shoulder injury that sidelined him this past fall.

The season begins with their first six matches at home against non-conference opponents. In all, the team will play eight matches at home including two ACC matches. "The ACC is one of the toughest conferences in the country. There are usually two or three teams ranked in the top 25 every year," Loomis said.

Coming off a successful fall, the team is looking forward to getting the season under way. "Last year we had to deal with a lot of adversity due to injuries. I am excited for this year because we return everybody while also adding two valuable players to the team. We had a good fall and I am looking forward to competing in the spring," Loomis said.

Head Coach Jeremy Loomis

5th Season • Maryland '93

This season marks the fifth year that Jeremy Loomis will handle the role of head coach for the men's team. Since 1997, he has acted as the assistant coach of the women's team and as associate head coach of the men's team under Jim Laitta. He has been responsible for various duties with each program.

Loomis was a four-year letterwinner at Maryland, playing both the No. 1 singles and doubles positions. He was named the team MVP in his senior season of 1993. After graduation that year, Loomis competed on the pro tour and achieved a world ranking in doubles.

Loomis graduated from the University of Maryland in 1993 with a degree in English and went on to complete his master's degree in exercise physiology from Miami University in Ohio in 1995.

He returned to his alma mater in 1996. Loomis volunteered as an assistant coach while playing in various professional tournaments. He is now in the process of completing his M.B.A. degree from Maryland.

2000 Men's Season Review

The Maryland men's team had a tough season last year, finishing with a 3-12 record. The team's early success against non-conference opponents George Mason and Georgetown gave the team confidence to begin the season.

Maryland faced tough ACC competition all season long, struggling to overpower conference powerhouses. The Terps did accomplish many of their goals both on and off the court without the help of scholarships.

The team was unable to win an ACC match, but did capture the President's Cup award for having the highest team GPA at Maryland.

The men began the season impressively, with a hard fought 4-3 victory over area rival George Mason for the second straight year. The next day they came out sharp, overpowering Georgetown 6-1.

They continued their four-match opening season homestand against Connecticut and Massachusetts. Both of these matches resulted in defeats for the Terps, losing to Connecticut 2-5 and Massachusetts 1-6.

A week later they went on the road losing at Clemson and Georgia Tech 0-7. With that behind them the team returned home for the final eight games of the regular season. They were defeated by a tough non-conference opponent in Villanova 1-6 to start the homestand.

For the Terps, six of their final seven games were against ACC opponents. They struggled through this part of the schedule, losing to Florida State and Wake Forest 0-7; Virginia 1-6 and N.C. State 0-4.

After starting off 2-0, the team had cooled off and found themselves on a nine-match losing streak. Maryland snapped its longest losing streak of the season by downing Coppin State 6-1.

The men lost their final two matches of the regular season to Duke and North Carolina 0-6.

The Terps traveled to the ACC tournament in Atlanta where they failed to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of N.C. State, losing to the Wolfpack 0-4 in the play-in game of the tournament.

Overall, the young Terps learned a lot and with many players returning the future looks bright. Coach Jeremy Loomis looked back on the season, saying, "We had to struggle through much adversity this year; injuries really set us back. With five starters returning next season, we have confidence riding into the coming year."

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Twelve years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

University of Maryland

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

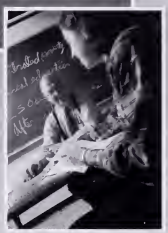
Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

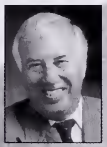
With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The University of Maryland features a diversity of cultural and recreational activities. Four art galleries, more than 200 annual musical performances and countless dance and theater productions, expose audiences to the broadest range of programs in the arts. And intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.



President C.D. Mote, Jr.



C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining 10 percent appropriations increases in each of his first two years.

Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley.

By the end of Mote's second year at Maryland, the university's ongoing capital campaign, Bold Vision • Bright Future, had raised nearly $300 million of a $350 million goal, including such landmark donations as Clarice Smith's $15 million for the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center and Comcast Corporation's $25 million for the Comcast Center. But Mote has said repeatedly that development and capital campaigns are not principally about raising money.

"They are about the university building relationships, with its alumni and friends of the university through the quality people and quality programs on campus. If we succeed in building authentic relationships, fund-raising happens as easily as the women's lacrosse team scores a goal."

Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

Dr. Deborah A. Yow is in the seventh year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland ... a year in which she also has assumed the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, an organization with a membership of more than 6,100 athletic administrators representing 1,600 colleges and universities in North America and Mexico.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony to her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of NACDA is an indication of the respect with which Dr. Yow is regarded in intercollegiate athletics and education in the U.S. and Canada.

In October 2000, Yow was named Female Sports Executive of the Year by the editors of Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal.

Also as a member of the NCAA Management Council and NCAA Division I Budget Committee, Yow presents a strong voice for excellence and integrity at the highest levels of intercollegiate athletics. In these national roles she has represented the University of Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Conference with a balanced and proactive voice.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all six of the nearly $30 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years prior to her arrival).
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided to student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of nearly 90 percent during her tenure.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 135% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Paid off approximately $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

Maryland athletic director Deborah A. Yow took over as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000.

The Maryland Department of Athletics has made remarkable progress under Yow's leadership. Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past six years, Dr. Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles. In 1999, she was singled out by Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Athletic Admin.

Jane Mullens

Assistant A.D./Compliance/SWA

Jane Mullens is in her third year as assistant athletic director for compliance following two years as the department's compliance coordinator.

She serves as the department's senior level manager in NCAA compliance and certification matters related to recruiting, eligibility, financial aid and rules education.

In February 1999, she was promoted to senior women's administrator. Her responsibilities were expanded to include the supervision of four sports programs: softball, field hockey and men's and women's tennis.

Mullens earned a bachelor's degree from Western Washington University in 1992 and a master's in sport management from University of Miami (Fla.) in 1994.

She was an assistant in the compliance office at Miami in 1995 before being promoted to compliance coordinator in January 1996. As compliance coordinator for the Hurricanes, she was responsible for creating and implementing a rules-education program and creating and monitoring documentation related to recruiting, eligibility, financial aid and rules education.

She was named to a similar position at the University of Maryland in July 1996. She began her career in athletic compliance as an intern at Miami in 1994.

She is married to Rob Mullens, Maryland's senior associate athletic director for internal operations.

ASCDU

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to the academic success and career development of student athletes. In support of this commitment the department sponsors the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU).

Mission

The mission of the unit is (1) to provide quality developmental programs and need based services that will enhance the opportunity to earn an undergraduate degree, (2) offer career development opportunities and (3) support the psychosocial growth of student athletes through special initiatives.

Katherine Fontaine

Staff

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce. Assistant Director Katherine Fontaine serves as the ASCDU liasion with the tennis teams.

ASCDU & The University

Primary academic advising is provided by professional advisors assigned to each student athlete by his or her home college, school or department. The ASCDU counselors serve as an important support network that coordinates and implements transitional and developmental programs to address the academic and career development needs of student athletes. In cooperation with the Office of Records and Registration, ASCDU monitors academic progress of student athletes to assure that NCAA, ACC, and University rules and regulations are met.

Location

The primary ASCDU unit is conveniently located on the ground floor of Cole Field House where student athletes have access to various resources and services. Each academic counselor has private office space in order to insure meeting privacy. A study table room is staffed by proctors and arranged to maximize student focus and concentration. The facility also houses a tutorial room devoted to servicing the learning needs of student athletes. The staff maintains two computer resource laboratories with a total of 40 personal computers containing up-to-date software packages. In addition, ASCDU coordinates a laptop computer service that provides each team access to laptop computers while traveling to away competitions.

There is also a satellite computer room in the Gossett Football Team House. Three of the nine ASCDU professionals are currently housed in the building.

The Future

In the summer of 2002, the $12.4 million Comcast Center will become the new home of the ASCDU unit. A 7,000 square foot wing has been developed to replace the current space in Cole Field House. The new home of ASCDU will be conveniently located on the floor where offices of coaches for 20 sports will also be placed. The close proximity was designed to facilitate communication among ASCDU staff, coaches and student athletes. The satellite computer lab in the Gossett Football Team House will continue to operate. In addition, a building addition of an auditorium which will seat 140 is currently planned for the Gossett Football Team House. That space will be available for use by the entire athletic program, including ASCDU.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Prospective student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Mentor program
- EDCP 108-J (Career decision making and planning); EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills); EDCP 108-O (First-year transitions to the university)

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Cole Field House Tennis Courts may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Jennifer Mason (women's) or Doug Drabik (men's) in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 1112 Cole Field House, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-1483. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home meet. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 1112 of Cole Field House, which is available upon request. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Mediateamlink.com: Releases, statistics and other sports information from all ACC schools as well as other conferences and institutions around the country are available by accessing www.mediateamlink.com.
